

SHIPPING SOLUTIONS FROM NEXXIO®

Shipping Made A Whole
Lot Easier!

Because How You Ship Matters™

MULTI-CARRIER, MULTI-MODAL SHIPPING

When it comes to shipping, each package carries with it a promise to a customer. That's why how you ship is so vitally important. At the same time, shipping systems should be simple to use and ultimately affordable; should easily fit into your current workflow; and painlessly integrate into your existing IT landscape. It's all about making shipping straight-forward, fast, accurate, and integrated, and that's why millions of packages each year are processed on systems provided by Nexxio.

NexxShip™ is a global multi-carrier, multi-modal shipping system that is built for the way today's businesses need to ship. Whether your fulfillment operation is facilitated from a single warehouse location or distributed around the globe, NexxShip's work-flow driven design facilitates implementing the right solution; regardless of the number of locations, unique business rules, processing functionality, or manner in which it needs to be integrated with your enterprise business systems. Shipping can be complicated. The technology you choose to simplify these processes, however, does not have to be.

bringing together technology and process improvement to empower better shipping

While NexxShip, like many other systems on the market, complies with all your carrier's requirements for rating, label printing, and transmitting shipping information, it separates itself by keeping two things simple: integrating shipping into your existing IT landscape and existing (or newly planned) workflows, and making it easy for users to get packages out the door and to your customers. NexxShip's flexible integration technology allows for unlimited integration options. And since NexxShip is designed by shippers for shippers, it does not require costly classroom training, never used manuals, or memorization of icons, buttons, and options. Put a package on the scale, scan (or enter) an order number, and NexxShip does the rest. By keeping it simple, you keep your next shipping system ultimately affordable.

KEY CAPABILITIES

- Use NexxShip's API to access rates (and rate shopping results) from other applications
- Correct and validate shipping addresses and reduce the frequency of late package deliveries, returns, and address correction fees
- Dimensionally rate all shipments correctly and avoid costly billing adjustments
- Easily batch process client-provided lists, including client-specific business rules, labels, and documentation
- Comply with export requirements by printing out required international documents
- E-mail advanced shipment notifications to customers
- And so much more...

POWERFUL, YET EASY TO USE

Whether you ship 50 or 50,000 packages per day, NexxShip scales to enable you to quickly and easily rate, print labels and documents, and update your enterprise business systems with shipping information. For users, shipping couldn't be easier. With NexxShip you define the workflow. Want to rate shop? Want to correct and validate shipping addresses? Want to have fuel surcharges automatically updated? Regardless of your requirements, NexxShip's design allows you to make it work the way you want it to. While other systems require you to conform, NexxShip says go ahead and be unorthodox if it helps get orders to your customers faster and more accurately.

built for the way today's businesses need to ship

Part of NexxShip's power lays in its ability to execute internal or customer-specific business rules based upon such things as product, customer, least-cost carrier routing, delivery commitments, and more. Need customized output? NexxShip lets you print such things as customer-required labels, specialized forms, and custom file or data output. Regardless of your requirements, NexxShip makes it easy to process shipments, even in the most complex of shipping environments.

PAINLESS INTEGRATION

Not surprisingly, our approach to integration is to keep it simple. NexxShip's integration framework provides the power and flexibility to make what would otherwise be a difficult and challenging project, simple and easy. NexxShip integrates with most popular ERP and Accounting Software systems, using industry standard methods such as XML, ODBC, TCP/IP, File transfer. Below are just a few examples of enterprise applications that NexxShip has successfully integrated with.
